ABSTRACT

This research examines "Oukup in Urban Areas: Business Survival Strategy for Oukup Gundaling 2 in Medan City". The aim of the research is to determine the development of Oukup treatment in multicultural communities in Medan City and to determine the inhibiting and supporting factors in the establishment of Oukup business practices in Medan. Using qualitative research techniques and research methods with in-depth interviews, observation and documentation analysis. The research results show that Oukup Gundaling 2 is a business practice that has existed since 2008 and has persisted until now. This business practice has one main service, namely the Oukup service, and 2 additional services, namely the Kusuk and Scrub Services. This business practice develops several strategies to survive in a multicultural environment, including promotion through social media and word of mouth. Due to developments over time, Oukup has also experienced changes in its systems and implementation methods. The supporting factors identified include a business license from the local government, cultural preservation, and practitioners' adaptability to technological developments and health trends. Other hand, inhibiting factors include competition with modern health practices and other business practices, as well as stereotypes that exist in society. This stereotype arises from the kink and scrub services which are often associated with commercial sex.
