

ABSTRACT

Wahyu ana Contribution of tapping pine resin (pinus merkusii) to family income in Cane Toa village, Rikit Gaib subdistrict, Gayo Lues district. Supervised by Irada Sinta, S.P., M.SI and Nopri Yanto, S.Pd., M.SI.

Tapping pine resin is a major source of income for the people of Cane Toa village, Rikit Gaib subdistrict, Gayo Lues district, apart from that there are several other sources of income, namely from agriculture and non-agriculture. This research was carried out in Cane Toa Village, Rikit Gaib District, Gayo Lues Regency. This research aims to find out the value of the income of family pine sap tappers in Cane Toa Village, Rikit Gaib District, Gayo Lues Regency and to find out how much the contribution of pine resin tapping income to families in Cane Toa Village, Rikit Gaib District, Gayo Lues Regency. Data analysis method. obtained were analyzed quantitatively and descriptively so as to obtain a systematic and accurate picture. The results of this research show that the average income/farmers' income from pine sap tappers in Cane Toa Village is IDR. 3,504,606.06/month with pine sap tapping costs of Rp. 219,514.83/production. So you get a profit of Rp. 3,285,091.23/month which is able to increase the income of the people in Cane Toa Village and the contribution of pine resin tapping income to families in Cane Toa Village is 44.12% which is considered a good level of contribution. This contribution was obtained from the average income/farmers tapping pine sap Rp. 3,285,091.23 distributed with a total family income of Rp. 7,441,462.08/month.

Keywords: Contribution, Family, Income, Tapping